POST SCHOOL ACHIEVEMENT.
HERSCHEL GETTING THE STATES PRESIDENT'S
1991 EXPORT AWARD

WE PRAISE ACHIEVEMENT

There is a little known fact that there are six persons who have done themselves and by inference, us proud. This could be a world record. These six sons of SACS are leaders/ heads of their respective congregations. The Hebrew word in the singular is gabbai. There is a tendency to pronounce the word gabba which is incorrect. The plural of gabbai is gabbai'm.

We salute the following gabbai'm

1. BASIL JOFFE (USA)
2. BERTIE CHAIT (The Ponevez Shul Cape Town)
3. HERSCHEL GELBART(Durban and then in the USA)
4. IAN CENTNER (Constantia)
5. STEPHEN DIBOWITZ (Camps Bay)
6. Tony Swil (Milnerton)

Well done!

*My formula for success is rise early, work late, and strike oil.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The object of this book is to provide you with a photographic memory of your years at SACS.

It was decided on this 55th occasion to keep the written word to a minimum.

This book is built around the photographic collections of

- Richard Cooke
- Michael Roy now of the USA

I would like to single out & mention the late Arnold Kaganson who had shared many of his photos with Richard Cooke.

It is a pity that this book could not present you with the complete Kaganson collection.

I would in addition also like to single out selfless Jeff Lederer who sent me his SACS scrap book. This was a delight to behold. The scrap book has now been presented to the OBU for safe keeping.

I sincerely hope that you enjoy re-living your memories of your school days as you savour the pages of this book.
Thanks to Peter Berry for arranging the catering.

My thanks are extended to Iain Bain for looking after our finances.

MESSAGE FROM THE FORMER HEADMASTER KEN BALL

Gentlemen of The Class of 62 and 63

I was privileged enough to meet a number of you in 2013 at your 50th Reunion and I was humbled then that you were returning to SACS to celebrate together.

THAT is one of the memories that I will always cherish regarding our wonderful institution - that is, the SACS Old Boys are men who are humble [regardless of their own wonderful achievements in "life after school"]; men who really LOVE their alma mater; men who have high regard for their peers - in short, men who have been given a solid foundation whilst attending SACS and who are men with a good value system and moral compass.

I have spent 40 years in education [20 as a Headmaster] and I always urged my charges [and staff] to strive for their best, have positive attitudes and a solid work ethic, ALL UNDERPINNED BY A STRONG VALUE SYSTEM, remembering that the TEAM [and Institution] is always more important than the individual. I found that whenever there was a strong alignment of purpose and reasonable adherence to this philosophy, the outcomes were successful.

Gentlemen, as much as many things have changed at SACS over the years, the value-system remains the glue that binds our School and its people. Enjoy your reunion, good fellowship and re-kindling of memories and friendships - you are a great example and inspiration to all of us!

Best wishes

KENNETH BALL

[SACS HEADMASTER, 2005-2017]

MESSAGE FROM THE HEADMASTER

It is my great pleasure to welcome home a number of our SACS Old Boys on the occasion of your 55th Reunion Celebration. Although you will find much that has changed I am sure you will find some things that have remained the same. One of the greatest strengths of a school such as ours are the bonds of friendship that are built up during our time at school and that remain with us for the rest of our lives. I wish you much joy and fond reminiscing as you renew those bonds over this special time.

We remain exceptionally proud of our school. We need to continue to build on the foundations of our past as we look to the future in our rapidly changing world. We are confident that SACS will continue to play a meaningful role as an educational center of excellence. Thank you for revisiting your Alma Mata, especially those of you who have traveled from afar. I do look forward to meeting you and sharing some SACS fellowship with you.

Warm regards

MESSAGE FROM THE 1962 HEAD BOY PETER BERRY:

“Reminders, reflections, respect and rugby”

I came back to South Africa on the 16th of March 2010.

Howard Joffe and Bertie Chait met me at the airport.

I was traveling light...only one bag...for a person moving continents. Bertie had arranged a cocktail party for me. The kind of thing Bertie does so well.

I barely recognised some of my school friends. It had been a long time. I had lived in the States for twenty-seven years.

Of course, the “stock” question was, “why did you come back?”. It remained a question I am confronted by, just about every day of my life! In the end I would almost retaliate with, “I can back to Cape Town and not South Africa”. It worked. It gets you out of all kinds of political hassles and then the only remaining question is, “did you vote for Donald Trump”. We will leave that answer for 3:05 pm when Stanley rings the final bell of the day!

For whatever reason I came back for, I am nonetheless pleasantly reminded every day of my school days. I live in Claremont and we have a window facing on the back of Table Mountain. A very similar view to the one at SACS. The one at SACS is more over-powering. The mountain is right on top of you. In my school days I looked up at the mountain with gratitude.

I was extremely happy to be at SACS. I had been raised in poor-to-medium “conditions” in the Gardens and here I was at school in Newlands. The place where it rains a lot and where all the rich people live.

Later in life and a million miles away in a busy New York street I would think back in awe that rich and poor could mix so well and learn from each other, right there under that massive mountain.

Reflections are fading a bit.

It has been 55 years and living in two very different countries blurs the mind. A reflection I wish I could lose, but cannot, was having to lead the war-cry at the end of each school term.

I hated doing that. It was not the war cry. Loved the rowdiness of that. It was the feeling that I should not be doing this.

Surely, I felt, there was somebody more worthy of doing this than me. As I walked back to my seat after the war cry, I would look up at the names of past head-prefects and confirm my emotion: A Joe Ireland I was not. He has gone now but with his Red Cross Memorial Hospital he surely proved that he really was head prefect material.

I had the greatest respect for the head-master who honed my leadership skills and for all the teachers who patiently tried to teach me things. But my greatest respect was for Nancy Rowland. He would enter a class of boisterous teen-agers almost like Daniel facing the lions. I remember losing it one day with a particular and very noisy heckler. I got up from desk at the front of E.1 and walked to the back of the class. (Why was it that all the hecklers sat at the back?).

I grabbed the perpetrator by his shirt-front; reminded him that I was the Western Province middle-weight boxing champion and told him to shut up. The class went quiet. Without missing a beat, Nancy started out with a science formula. Years later, Nancy married, happy and retired looked me up and thanked me for that day. He could not call me a good Christian coming to the rescue of a fellow Christian so he did what I will never, ever forget about this man. He wished well in my newly found Jewish life. How he found me and how he found out my Jewishness I will never know. That he did it, counts.

Finally rugby and Doug Brown:

My father left home when I was nine-months old.

I had no role model. One day, after suffering at the hands of one Lex Basson, I had could not find it in me to go out and play and captain a very important game (...it was at Newlands Rugby grounds). Doug took me aside and told me if I did not play, men like Basson would win the war and the battle. I played the greatest game of rugby in my life.

Peter

REUNION PREPARATION HISTORY – CLASS 62/3

AUTHOR Howard Joffe

Date 24 October 2017

My interest in organizing our reunions came about because of two reasons – (1) Ian Centner had stepped down from the task of having organized three reunions (2) former head boy Peter Berry asked me to help him organize our fiftieth. Peter had returned from the USA after a twenty something year absence. I had returned from Melbourne having also been away for exactly twenty years 1981 – 2001.

I remember receiving an email from Cape Town in the nineties informing me about the then reunion. My name was listed as being absent with the terse comment “missing - somewhere in Australia.”

I was delighted to agree to assist Peter because I not only enjoy writing and emailing but felt here was an opportunity to play a more active part in SACS. I felt that I did not do myself justice during my years at high school, that my colleagues did not know the real me given that I had remained much to myself following the premature death of my father when I was 17 in 1962. For the record, I did captain the SACS U12 c side. My rugby career came to an abrupt halt after breaking my shoulder at age 16. I retired too early. Tony Swil became the fly half for our first team.

Back to the reunion business: Peter Berry had informed me that because of pressure of business he would reluctantly have to leave our reunion team of two. This came as a bolt out of the blue. My first reaction was to try to convince Peter to rethink because I needed help. Peter's plans included visiting the USA on business and being away to visit his about-to- be married daughter.

I cast my eyes around me and came up with the idea of encouraging Dr Richard Cooke and Iain Bain to help me. And help me they did. Richard has a memory second to none and he took on the task of preparing tributes to every one of our 36 deceased. The 36 equated to 22% of the combined 62/3 class of 163 pupils. This shocking statistic emphasizes the need to get together and to celebrate as often as we can.

Over 80 persons including wives/ partners celebrated our 50th. Richard Cooke and I produced a reunion book of 139 pages. Two copies were given to headmaster Kenneth Ball. These should be available to take out on loan. We decided at our 50th to have reunions every five years. That was in 2013. Now, as we approach the year 2018, our 55th beckons. Around 50 persons are attending our 55th.

I must make mention of Debbie Cooke having helped us organize the catering for our 50th. There is a mildly funny story to relate: the plan initially was to commence our weekend of activities by having a get-together braai at the Cooke home. Debbie then decided that the cool February weather would not be agreeable to the health of her very fit husband cyclist Richard. I was asked to come up with an alternative food plan. Great fresh pastas direct from The Italian Club proved to be a real winner. Herein lies the rub: in the process of informing our attendees that we had changed plans, one of our number, a local lad who is loved by one and all, wrote to me expressing his anger. He was no longer joining us. We did not know what we were doing blah blah blah. I was to convince him days later that his presence was much needed....that we would miss him. Life is more important than minor squabbles or differences of opinion. Those present at the pasta meal on Thursday 21st February 2013 will recall how this first team rugby player of note had taken the mike and kept us entranced by his revelations of years gone past. He would not come to the reunion and there he was unable to stop talking!

As I pen these words, another close school friend has decided that he has had second thoughts about joining us at our 55th in February 2018. This is now work-in- progress. I have no idea what his problem is but I aim to find out.

Peter Berry will be briefed as I was by Ian Centner. Peter is the new reunion organizer for 2018 and beyond.

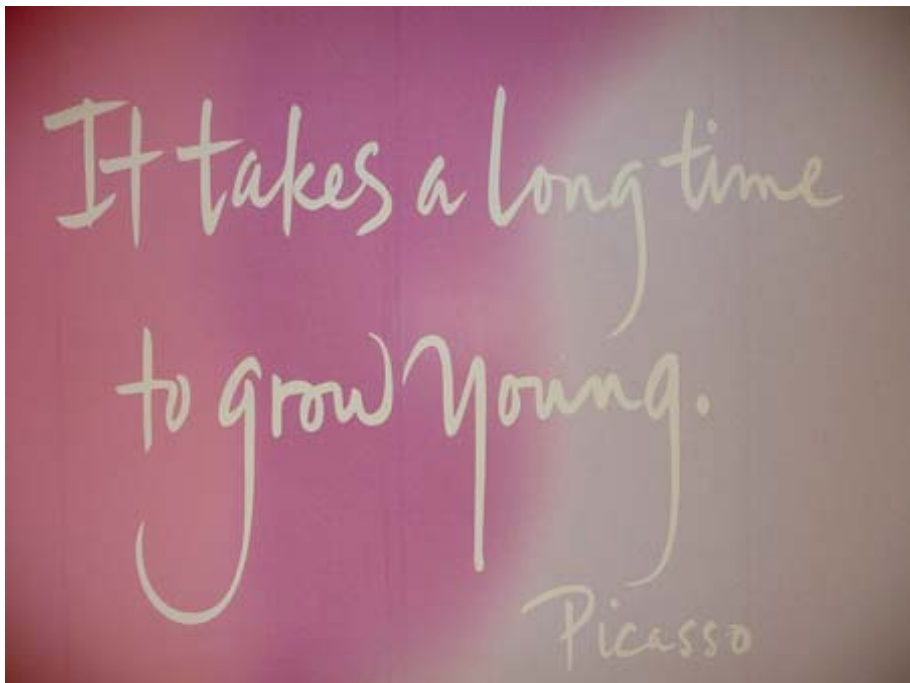

To those reading this who are thinking of not attending a future reunion, have a rethink. We must live in the now.

A DOCTOR

My father is a doctor. He has a case with all the medicines.
He also has a cupboard almost full of medicines and bandages.

He also has a number of patients. He has an office in town.
In the office there is a nurse. The nurse's job is to keep everything in order. The nurse also helps my father with his work. At night he comes home. Sometimes in the night he has to go to see a patient who is very ill.
He also goes to operations. My father takes us out on Thursday.

HERSHY THE HURDLER

Howard Joffe pays tribute to

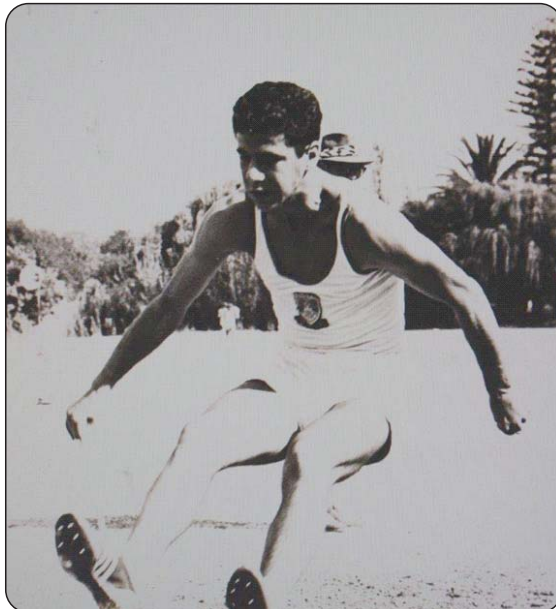

When I think of the pupils who were with us at SACS, the following trio come immediately to mind:

- Andre Meyerowitz
- Roy Neethling
- Herschel Gelbart

Neither of the three were prefects. These three giants epitomized all that is good at SACS. Andre and Roy were not sportsmen. These were our brilliant academics.

Herschel personifies kindness. He showed a maturity beyond his years at school in dealing on his own with very difficult family issues. He is fondly known as Muizie for his love of Muizenberg. He is also known as HERSHY THE HURDLER.

This photo is one of our treasures.....

TWO ATHLETES
AT S.A.C.S.
OUTSTANDING

By TREVOR BROWN

TWO athletes at SACS, one in the open and the other in the under-16 division, have enjoyed an outstanding season this year.

Brian Chedburn, 18, has just finished writing his matriculation examination and leaves the school with a distinguished sporting record, in recognition for which he was awarded the Russell Cup for the Sportsman of the Year.

Brian has won Blues for athletics and rugby, and is an accomplished boxer, but it is at athletics that he has particularly excelled. Apart from winning his Blue and the Russell Cup, Brian has won bronze medals in the under-16 division for the 220, 440 and 880 yards, and the Pennant and Silver Medal which are awarded with the Victor Ladurum.

In this year's inter-schools championships he won the 440 yards, having taken the 880 time at the championships in 1962. A close finish at Paarl in the under-16 880 yards earlier this season saw Brian just edged out of Western Province colours for this distance.

Brian will be joining a bank next year, but his sporting career will be temporarily interrupted by his having to leave for naval training in July.

JOHN SHEARING, 16, who writes the Matriculation Examination next year, seems to be very much a junior edition of Brian Chedburn.

At Brian has dominated the under-16 track events, so Michael has excelled in the under-16 division.

He won the Centner Cup for sprinting (an award open to the whole school), the East Cup and Silver Medal for the under-16 athletics championship, and Bronze Medals for the under-16 100 and 200 yards, setting up a new record in the 200.

He has been awarded his Blue for athletics and represented the school under-16A rugby team.

The family is not altogether certain of details, but tradition has it that Michael's grandfather represented his country in England for the 140 yards a century, incidentally, in which Michael himself would like to specialise.

Michael is still undecided about his future but hopes to go on to university after school.

Peter Berry

SACS Peer Of Sport Joins SAP

THE 1962 head prefect at the S.A. College High School, and the school's top-ranking athlete, left Cape Town yesterday on his way to Pretoria to join the South African Police.

He is Peter Berry, only son of Mrs. E. H. Berry, of 18, Sandringham Court, Rosebank. Peter's father was killed in World War II.

At the school's annual prize-giving on Friday night Peter received a tremendous ovation for all the trophies and prizes with which he was presented by Mrs. Joyce Newton Thompson.

This is what he won:

- Blue for boxing;
- Blue for rugby;
- Cup for most improved boxer;
- Pennant for captain of boxing;
- Cup for keenness in rugby;
- Pennant for captain of first XV;
- Pennant for school discus record;
- Bronze medal for shot put and discus;
- Cup for best all-round sportsman.

The SACS head prefect for 1963 is Ian Wood.

To join police

CAPT. P. J. (PIET) HUGO (C.I.D., Chief, Athlone Police District) shows his police officer's warrant card to Roger O. Beighton (left) and Tullifer Krige, both prefects at the South African College School at Newlands, who plan to join the South African Police after matriculating at the end of the year.

TWO S.A.C.S. BOYS WILL JOIN S.A. POLICE FORCE

TWO PREFECTS of the South African College School at Newlands have told their friend, Capt. P. J. Hugo (C.I.D., Chief, Athlone Police District), that they will join the South African Police when they matriculate at the end of the year.

They are Roger O. Beighton, W.P. school, light middle-weight boxing champion and first XV rugby player, who came to South Africa from Yorkshire, with his parents 13 years ago, and Tullifer Krige (son of Vya Krige, the South African poet) who is Western Province schoolboy under-17 javelin champion, a first XV rugby player and a member of the Cape Command Rugby shooting team.

They are both 17.

Hugo, who lives at 21 Brighton Road, Welton, says: "I think it is the duty of English-speaking boys to support the police and join them if possible."

"I have toyed with the idea for more than two years and now I have made up my mind. I fancy the active life."

Tullifer, who lives at 6th Glen Road, Beach, Clifton, says: "It is the active life that appeals to me too — and I know for a fact that there is a fine career for air-submarine chaps who make a bit of it in the police."

Both youths have already passed medical examinations.

HEAD BOY IAN WOOD
A FINE STUDENT, A FINE SPORTSMAN
AND A GENTLEMAN.

I. R. WOOD

IAN WOOD, last year's Head Prefect, rounded off a brilliant school record with two notable achievements. He excelled himself in the Senior Certificate examination, gaining an 'A' symbol in every one of his 6 subjects and attaining second place in the Cape Province; and he was selected by Yale University for the award of this year's Yale-South African scholarship, which is worth R2,000 a year and tenable for 4 years. The holder also receives a free trip home each year.

From the time he was in Std. 3 Wood won a scholarship annually, his last as a schoolboy being a Victoria Scholarship. He was like R. A. Swil, who won last year's Yale scholarship, in that he won his academic honours without withdrawing from participation in the life of the school outside the classroom. In addition to discharging in admirable fashion the duties that were his as leader of the school prefects, he played cricket for the First XI and rugby for the Second XV, was editor of the school magazine, chairman of the debating society and an officer in the cadet corps.

To retain one's modesty and avoid the danger of making one's companions feel conscious of their own inferiority can be no easy task for someone who achieves prominence in as many fields as Wood did. But I am sure that all who know him will agree that he succeeded admirably in this difficult requirement.

He goes to Yale with the advantage of having in 'Tony' Swil someone who will be able to help him orientate himself quickly in an entirely new environment and who has achieved a degree of excellence in his first year at the university that Wood will be both eager and able to emulate.

The school is proud that, for the second successive year, it is a S.A.C.S. boy who has been selected from among the most brilliant products of the Republic's schools for this high honour. We are sure that Wood will justify the confidence shown in him first by the selection committee in the Republic and then by Yale itself, and look forward to seeing him distinguish himself in a wider field and in sterner competition.

S.A.C.S. RHODES SCHOLARSHIP

THE S.A.C.S. Rhodes Scholarship for 1966 has been awarded to Roy Antony Swil (21), elder son of Dr. and Mrs. A. Swil, of 67, Forest Drive, Pinelands. Swil was awarded the Yale-South African Scholarship of 1963 and is now in his final year at Yale, where he is studying business administration. He will go up to Oxford next October.

Swil's academic record at Yale has been described by the Master of his college as "superb". He has taken a prominent part in student activities, both cultural and sporting, and is captain of the Yale Rugby Club. While at school he was a prefect, editor of the magazine, chairman of the debating society, a student officer in the cadet corps, a member of the Rugby 1st XV and the Cricket 2nd XI. When he matriculated in 1962 he obtained an "A" in BIG BURSARY: Roy Anthony Swil, 17, of UCT, son of Dr. and Mrs. B. Swil, of Forest Drive, Pinelands, who has been awarded the Yale-South African Scholarship for 1963. He will leave for the United States later this year to take up the R1,800 a year scholarship. He matriculated at the South African College School last year with an A aggregate. He represented his school in cricket, rugby and athletics, was second prefect, editor of the school magazine, chairman of the debating society and a student officer in the cadet corps.

1961: TAI KRIGE REPLIES

TUG O WAR taken in 1961 by Michael Roy with fellow photographer David Martin in blazer facing the camera

I had written to Tai asking him to verify the athlete in the tug o war photo.....
Here is the reply

Hello Howard..

Yes you're right...The Tug of War pic is of Bill Krige who was also a boarder at Rosedale with me and also played rugby in the 1st team with me...and years later the famous Springboks Sid Nomis, Hugh Bladen and I were the 3/4 backline for Transvaal...

In athletics I broke the Western Province Schools under 17 provincial record for Javelin which I heard was'nt beaten for many years after....

I did all the events I could enter, winning the coveted Victor Ludorum trophy,...100, 220, 440 yards sprints, long & high jump etc and was part of the record breaking 440 yards Relay team which did very well against the other schools in the Cape....an so on..

I failed most of my classes but since the rugby & athletic coach was also one of my main teachers,...he still managed to get me a matric pass...

I also enjoyed Shooting and was part of the Western Province Cape Command Bisley team chosen from all the Cape schools....

So in short I had a great time of it and enjoyed school days alot, spending hols & weekends with my father Uys at his awesum cottage on 2nd Beach Clifton, which was a total blast...and for the longer holidays sometimes up in joburg staying with my mother the actress Lydia Lindeque...

Tai gave me permission to include these memories in the public domain.

NOT BIRDS OF A FEATHER

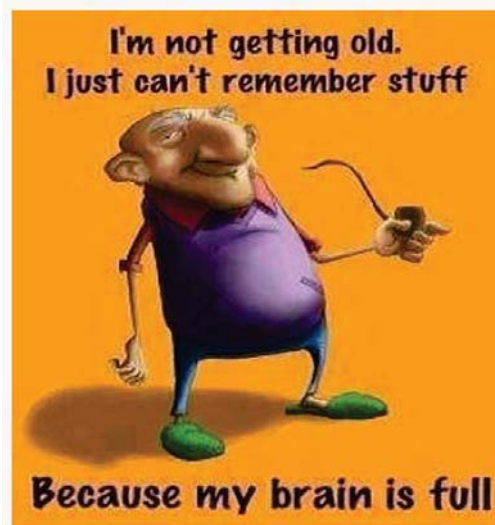

Ronnie Lowenthal answers my question about him having been at the University of Sussex with THABO MBEKI circa 1968:

The year I arrived at Sussex as an undergrad Mbeki was leaving so we never met.

However the rest of the crew, if I remember correctly 5 in all were all in the first cabinet or senior ANC officials. Unfortunately they were convinced I was an Ian Smith agent and every time I walked into the refectory they walked out!

The joke is one of my majors was Race Relations and the University wanted me to do an MA.

BERNARD HENRY WINS 1974 MARATHON

Page 22

THE STAR JOHANNESBURG MONDAY SEPTEMBER 2 1974

GOLDEN WIN FOR HENRY

BERNARD HENRY of Wanderers scored his first marathon success in the annual Golden Reef event from Johannesburg to Brakpan today, beating Derek van Heerden and Dave Pritchard in a tight, thrilling finish.

Henry's time was 2 hr 28 min 44 sec—only 39 sec faster than Van Heerden of Springs Striders for whom 42-year-old Danny Gilfoyle scored a spectacular triumph by finishing fourth in the fastest time ever recorded by a veteran in South Africa. Gilfoyle's time was 2 hr 29 min 32 sec.

Pritchard of Germiston Callies was third in 2 hr 28 min 31 sec, helping his club to a narrow team race victory over Springs Striders.

Henry, who has competed in four marathons since taking up long-distance running early last year, showed himself to be an aggressive competitor for whom much should be heard in the future.

BERNARD HENRY downs a well-earned cold drink after winning the Golden Reef marathon from Johannesburg to Brakpan today. It was Henry's first success over the standard marathon distance since taking up long-distance running for the first time early last year.

SERENDIPITY?

Here is a copy of an email sent to Laurence Pieters of Windhoek on 9th January 2018.

Laurence – what follows next will astound you.....

I am seated in the breakfast room of the shul after services this morning Tuesday 9 January 2018.

I go daily to The Gardens Shul.

We had no minyan this morning which is fortunately a rare occurrence.

I am chatting to RABBI MAIZELS formerly of Camps Bay shul where I had been a member and for a short period of time had been the Treasurer....

We are chatting about making a minyan. Rabbi starts telling me of the difficulties he had saying Kaddish when flying overseas for kashrut purposes. He then gave one example of the difficulty he experienced in Windhoek to make a minyan for him to say kaddish for his dad....

He says “when in PE or East London where I have spent time making a minyan, I have no difficulty in asking friends to come to shul to help me...However when I was in Windhoek, I did not know that many people - there was a fellow called Peters who was the Gabbai – I spoke to him and he very kindly organised a minyan on my behalf..”

Howard: Rabbi – excuse me for interrupting your story but I have to tell you and extraordinary recent event which saw me touch base with an old school acquaintance going back to 1956....yes 62 years ago...There is a fellow in Windhoek called Pieters who must be the identical person who helped you.....Do you remember his first name by any chance?

He did not...but I then proceeded to tell him the lengths I had gone to emailing other rugby players and then the Vogelmans in order to contact this face on the rugby photograph that was so familiar to me.

THIS HAS TO BE YOU !!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

H

minyan = a group of 10 adult men which is needed to say certain prayers like a prayer to honour a deceased

Gabbai = the President

Shul = Hebrew term for synagogue

LOST AND FOUND

Howard came to identify and locate the current head of cricket in Namibia. We will be enjoying the company of SACS old boy Laurence Pieters (see rugby photograph 1958 u 14 B) and his wife Rayna. Thank you Brian and Dawn VOGELMAN

Laurence writes:

So as you can ascertain from my recent mails we live a busy and happy life in Namibia. Rayna and I are pretty excited and look forward about coming to Cape Town for the reunion. We shall spend a further 7 –10 days there and staying with Brian Vogelmann and Dawn. Brian and I have kept up our correspondence for many years now. I first met him in 1955, when him and I were resident at Junior boarding school. That was the Dryfe House boarding school. I can recall 25 boys in the old wooden building(freezing cold in winter). On either side of me slept Eric Lang from Swakopmund and Brian. I was invited and spent “out weekends” with Brian. His mother was particularly kind to me, and my mother referred to her as my Cape Twin mother. We only went home twice a year for the June and December holidays. This was by train(with 25 coaches per trains) and a journey lasted 3 nights and 4 days. There were 3 trains to South West Africa loaded with “South Weststers” from other Cape schools such as Paarl Boys High, Paarl Gymnasium, Paul Roos, Jan van Riebeck and many others. Girls who attended schools in the Cape were in separate trains. Those were certainly different times and today there are still those who attend schools in RSA but they fly and no more than 2 hours.

By the way I remember a fellow called Glen Roseman but cannot recall if he was in our years. His step-father was the SA Table Tennis champion by the name of Pataki. Not sure if this is correct? The other good friend was David Abrahams and Bernhard Henry. David father had the Hotel in Hermanus. I trust that you received the photograph attached to my mail of 7 January and hope that it is a suitable one for you book Just a brief background of what happened since I left Cape Town and could not return to SACS.

The then South West Africa underwent a terrible drought in the late 1957- 1960's and my parents could not afford to keep me at school in South Africa. I was devastated but had no choice but to return to SWA and completed my matric in Windhoek.

After matric I joined the Barclays Bank and being single worked throughout the country branches in towns such as Windhoek, Tsumeb, Grootfontein, Otavi, Usakos, Walvis Bay and Karasburg and finally London(UK). I returned back to SWA and was employed by Wispeco(Pty) Ltd, for 7 years. They were manufacturers of steel windows and door frames. Thereafter, if you possibly can recall Ralph Lang a SACS old boy , who was Manager of Rocla Pipes employed me. This was 1972. As a Rocla employee I worked in the far northern regions of SWA delivering and laying pipelines particularly in the the then “WAR REGIONS” stationed in Oshakati. It was adrenalin and nerve racking working and living in the conflict areas where SA troops were fighting SWAPO and Cuban terrorists. Nevertheless we came through unscathed and it appeared the the so called enemy forces left persons alone who were a benefit to the local communities particularly bring water to remote towns and villages.

After this I returned to Windhoek and after Ralph left Rocla became General Manager for Rocla , Namibia until I took early pension in 2002. Thirty years of service for Rocla. I was then offered By the Namibia Cricket Board to become their first CEO of Cricket Namibia until 2012. During this time I was an elected representative of the ICC Associate cricket playing (this highlighted by editor H.Joffe) countries representing them on the ICC Chief Executive Committee...

Since then I retired and have been serving as a Director of Cricket Namibia and today most of my time is taken up and back at Rocla Namibia as a Sales & Marketing consultant for Rocla Namibia. I travel quite extensively being involved in the development of Roads and township infrastructure in Namibia.

Ever since leaving SACS I tried to stay involved and played sport at every opportunity. Rugby is still played extensively in the country and I represented all the clubs of the towns I worked in. Cricket has grown tremendously and is going from strength to strength. Although the standard has dropped off of late the numbers are increasing. Namibia does compete in the Cricket South Africa 3 day and 1 day amateur tournaments as well as in the ICC World Cricket League Division 2. A substantial amount of funding does come from the ICC whilst Government of course funds football tremendously.

I have been honoured by receiving Life long Achievement Awards from both the ICC and the Namibia Sports Commission for contribution to the development of Cricket in Namibia.

Namibia is a fantastic country to live in. It is stable politically. Corruption has become rife of late and it has a struggling economy and I am led to believe it will take at least 3 years for it to recovery. At present I am aware of only a single handful of SACS old boys living in Namibia. Ralph Lang and his brother Eric live in Swakopmund and Jerome Davis who works for the City of Windhoek. Eric was in our class of 1955 and 1956 before leaving and returning to SWA. During the past years I have kept up my interest in SACS and followed the sports results.

Richard Cooke comments:

Smuts cymbal broke on first tune at annual competition at Wynberg.
 Wynberg BHS had won competition for years but we won (it) in 1962.
 Anderson won solo drummer comp.

The Wynberg solo drummer father was in charge of music at The Castle and at a celebratory party given for us by Jonny Ince that night we received the news that the solo drummers had been "re-marked" (who knows how) and Anderson was second and on aggregate so was the band.....

IN MEMORIAM

In addition to the 31 persons listed on page 18 in our 50th reunion book in 2013, we have now identified that 6 additional colleagues have also passed away. This brings our list sadly to 37 of a combined 62/3 class of 164. This equates to near 23%.

- I received an email reply 27/11/2017 from Richard Cooke to my query about the whereabouts or email address for Ken Coleman :
“Just heard from patient--Kalk Bay surfer mate of Ken Coleman-- that Ken (had) died a few years ago.”
- Then Ronnie Sassoon sent details about a second fiftieth 63 reunion party which was held at the yacht club in 2013 It was then that I then discovered that BEVAN GRIGG and NOEL VAN BROEKHUIZEN had passed away.
- Harold Juter passed away 9th December 2017.

In conclusion, the additional six persons are:

1. DAVID SINGER formerly of Swellendam
2. KEN COLEMAN formerly of Fish Hoek
3. BEVAN GRIGG
4. NOEL VAN BROEKHUIZEN
5. BJORN BYLIN (as advised by R.Cooke)
6. HAROLD PEEWEE JUTER (died in the USA 9 Dec 17)

I regret that I am unable to provide dates of death nor details of the families of all these additional persons save to add that Bylin's widow is believed to be living in Langebaan.

As far as I know Dr. Ian Scheepers was the only person from our number to have had a road named after him. This road is in Namibia

Should schoolboys currently at SACS lose a parent or sibling:

It is hoped that should there be a death in the family of a current SACS attending pupil, that there be a system in place (at the school) whereby the school gets in touch with the family. This was non existent in the sixties.

OUR DECEASED - WE SHALL NOT FORGET

We give thought to those 37 men who could not join us today. Memories of these school friends linger. Almost 23% of our number are no longer here.

OUR MOST RECENT DEATH: HAROLD PEEWEE JUTER

It is with regret that I must inform you of the passing of SACS old boy Harold "Peewee" Juter. I received news of Harold's death due to a massive heart attack in the USA today Saturday 9th December 2017. According to a mutual cousin, Peewee had been suffering ill health for the past 21 years. He is survived by his wife Jackie, his forty- three year old son Elton and a 40 something daughter Simone.

The Juter family had emigrated to the USA in 1985 or 86. Harold matriculated at a local commercial college in 1961.

Apart from Simone, the family had visited Cape Town late November 2017. I was fortunate enough to have spent a good 2 hours talking to Harold when he was here less than 2 weeks ago. Harold had opened retail sweet stores in the USA after his first successful store opening in Hawaii. Some of you may remember that his father had owned a sweet factory here in Cape Town.

Here is a photograph of Harold which I took at his sister-in-law Phylis Miller's house in Kenilworth. His brother-in-law Charlie Miller is a SACS old boy.

ROGER BEIGHTON wrote this poem in honour of the late DOUG BROWN

The poem first appeared in our SACS 50th Reunion book in 2013.

The old man went walking one summer's morn
through the village

One lost soul
stretching his bod.
Looking for something
Looking for G-d.

It is thought that ANIMULA was written on or before 1998.

ANIMULA - WRITTEN BY DOUG BROWN

I'm looking for the little boy I once knew...

At ten he was not much like other boys – didn't fit in at birthday parties.

Who would, wearing a kilt, or a bright tweed suit from Jenners, that set him unhappily apart?

"That's Brown in the brown suit," joked diminutive Father Sutcliffe with his outsize wife handing out lucky-packets; and everyone laughed but him.

At seven he lived in a rambling house with a large garden, surrounded by humble tumbledown white cottages with pumpkins stored on their roofs, and broken window-panes. He was not allowed to play with the bare-foot children; forced to sit through boring Sunday morning services. To be like his father, he enjoyed planting seeds and watching them grow; fishing for trout in the river and learning to gut them; helping the stable hand muck out the urine-drenched stables next door; making fairy gardens in the bark of the big oak near the drive gate; watching the poor children daring to gather acorns for their pigs, in sacks, while he sat in the almond tree with his sister, waiting for visits from her friends. I remember how he puzzled for hours over jigsaw skies with his granny during weeks of floods. He was allowed to play with a few selected friends at birthday parties; like him they wore English clothes.

At eight, he started 'school' in the hotel room of a severe lady who looked after her mother. I suppose you could say she was his governess.

And when he last went to proper school, mounted on the back of one of the big boys at break, he became victor of Battle-of-Waterloo contests. And then there was bok-bok, kenneetjie, blikskop...bliss.

I look for him in my head as I day-dream about seaside holidays; diving for miss-hit golf-balls off the 2nd for sixpence, that was exchanged for a handful of sweets at the shop; crossing the big lagoon, (to his parents' alarm), clinging to an inflated rubber duck; trudging to Fairy Knowe along a dusty road, in search of an unclaimed rowing boat...carefree days.

I remember him standing at the side of the road outside his house, bamboo stick in hand, and visibility curtailed for minutes at a time by clouds of red dust each time a car passed, waiting for wagons drawn by teams of oxen to pass. He learned the shouts of the drivers cajoling their oxen, casting whips like fishing rods and expertly cracking the riempie above the ears of the sluggish; and with the spurt that followed, he held his breathe as the touleiertjie skipped out of the way of the leading Afrikanders'sweeping horns. I remember him at bedtime, driving imaginary ox-wagons through the house, practicing the guttural shouts of the wagoners.

My search took me to those happy years spent with good friends who, like him, enjoyed the wildness of youth. But it was then that he also began to dread his father's frustration at his growing taste for freedom and apparent neglect of his books. In stolen hours he revelled in 'dare' games, trials of skill and strength, making and collecting things...those years when, believing that he was immortal, nothing was too dangerous, and happiness was rambling across the veld with friends, hunting for birds' nests, and the prize of a rare egg. His father, sensing his own youthful mistakes in his son, tried locking him in his room to study; he climbed out of the window and away, resigned to face the music later. But it was good, and innocent, and exciting.

It laid the foundation for lasting friendships and happy memories.

I've sat at my desk, lain on my bed staring at the ceiling, passed hours in the pub by myself-searched for the boy long lost, almost forgotten, that had inspired my growing up. I followed his trail to boarding school, where he soon broke out of his web of loneliness, bad influences, sense of not-belonging -earning a reputation for pygmy-courage on the rugby field, ability at running long distances, and gained the assurance that honest hard work always brought results. Inspired by his seniors, he aspired to be like them when his time came -though it was a long time coming. Somewhere along the road it dawned on him that he had caring parents.

But too soon, school over, the boy was to disappear into a phantasma of loss-of-innocence, moral dilemmas, pragmatic shortcuts and other temptations, for which childhood was to have been his training and through which he had to find his way-sometimes losing it, getting lost, finding it again-always looking past the trees in search of the woods. When the adult world became his world, the freedom of his spirit became harnessed to meeting responsibilities, serving institutions, standing up for principles –and he lost contact with the child that fathered him, and with his insights into the child's world that he had known so well. And now, the frenzy over, I have searched for him again, for with him was my happiness and my innocence.

Post Script : It has been a long and painful journey, but at last I have found him. His heart still moves in mine; he is in my memory of my father, and lives on in the heart of my son.

The above story was found in a collection of short stories. The group called themselves The Writers Crescent. This story was included in their 1998 collection which was published in December 1998. I have included the story here in honour of Doug Brown and for your surprise and hopefully for your enjoyment.

A THANK YOU.....

Thanks to all of you who supplied photos/messages for this book to remember our SACS 55th reunion celebration.

I came across these words and find them somehow appropriate:

Wesley College is an English-style Protestant school. Their most famous alumnus was George Bernard Shaw.

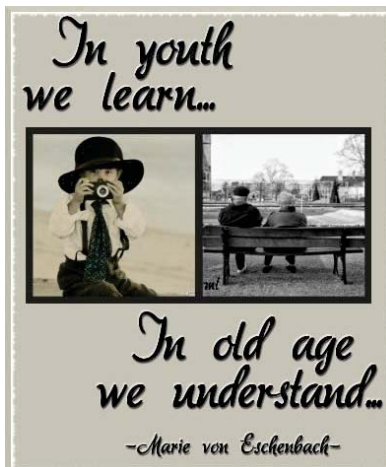

The school wrote to GBS when about to celebrate their school's 100th anniversary.

They anticipated a message from him to add to their celebrations.

The school wished to honour him.

They wrote twice, but did not receive a reply.

*The third time they wrote, he answered, via postcard:
"If you don't stop pestering me, I will write what I really thought about the place."*

THE END

WHAT THE FUTURE HOLDS

describing up-and-coming SACS talent in the form of brothers MICHAEL AND BEN LEVITT who are being moulded into future South African international cricketers.....Michael almost 15 and Ben 13.....Both intent on furthering their studies and cricketing careers.

BEN LEVITT

I joined the SACS family in grade 3, and was made welcome right from the start. I was fortunate to be selected as Captain of the Cricket and Rugby team that year; I also excelled in Academics and over the years, I received merit certificates for achieving over 80%.

In my final year at SACS Junior, I was honoured to be made Guardian of the Banner, this made both my family and myself very proud, to be selected by my teachers and my fellow students for this top honour.

I always try and lead by example, and assist any boy who is in need.

I hope to make this year a memorable one, and be a true SACS gentleman in every way.

My first choice sport is cricket, and I was very fortunate to be selected for WP U11, I am hope this year that as a team, SACS will do well. I also enjoy Rugby, and with our coach and team this year we are hoping to have a good injury free year.

I am also currently playing water polo and our team so far has been unbeaten since we were U10.

Thank you

Ben Levitt (SACS Junior Class of 2018)
